

ETHAN MURROW - bio

Ethan Murrow received his B.A. from Carleton College and his M.F.A from The University of North Carolina. He shows his work nationally and internationally. Upcoming solo shows include La Galerie Particulière in Paris and Winston Wachter in Seattle. Recent solo exhibitions include, Winston Wachter in New York City and Obsolete in Los Angeles. Ethan's short film, "Dust," was an official selection of the 2008 New York Film Festival. Ethan's work is in many collections worldwide including the Guggenheim Foundation. His work has been reviewed and published widely, including recently in the Los Angeles Times and the Seattle Times. Ethan is currently a full time faculty in painting and graduate studies at the School of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. In 2010, Ethan also served as the Dayton Hudson Distinguished Visiting Artist and Teacher at Carleton College. His writing work appears regularly in the Huffington Post.