

Name: Lisa Kellner
Hometown: Brooklyn and Virginia, United States
Current City: Brooklyn and Virginia, United States
Education: Art Institute of Boston at Lesley University: MFA, Concentration in drawing and painting; School of Visual Arts, Boston University: BA Interests: Hiking, kayaking, reading, the environment, horror films, growing food and feeding people, really good coffee, travel, anything really funny.

Website: lisakellner.com
Shown: Ice Melt's Tyrant

Spell Rooted in the language of decay, erosion and disease, my work merges intricate microcosms with immense topographies to directly respond to a particular space. Thousands of organic, bulbous shapes are hand formed, painted and sewn out of silk organza to create a structure that operates both as environmental sculpture and a three dimensional painting.

Name: Timothy Corbin
Hometown: Trinidad and Tobago
Current City: Whitby, Canada
Education: Presentation College, Trinidad

Interests: Reading biographies, drinking a good black coffee, keeping fit in the gym, exploring places I have never visited before and collecting good tattoos.

Website: inplain-sight.com
Shown: The piece is from my current Winter Ice series that I am currently doing in Ontario. The ice covered branches are a result of violent waves constantly crashing on the tree and the mixture of freezing temperatures cause that water to freeze as it drips off the branch. This photo was captured at sunrise and the temperature on this day was -10 degrees Celsius.

