

PRETEND
THIS IS A TRAP

Joey Fauerso 2016

PRETEND THIS IS A TRAP

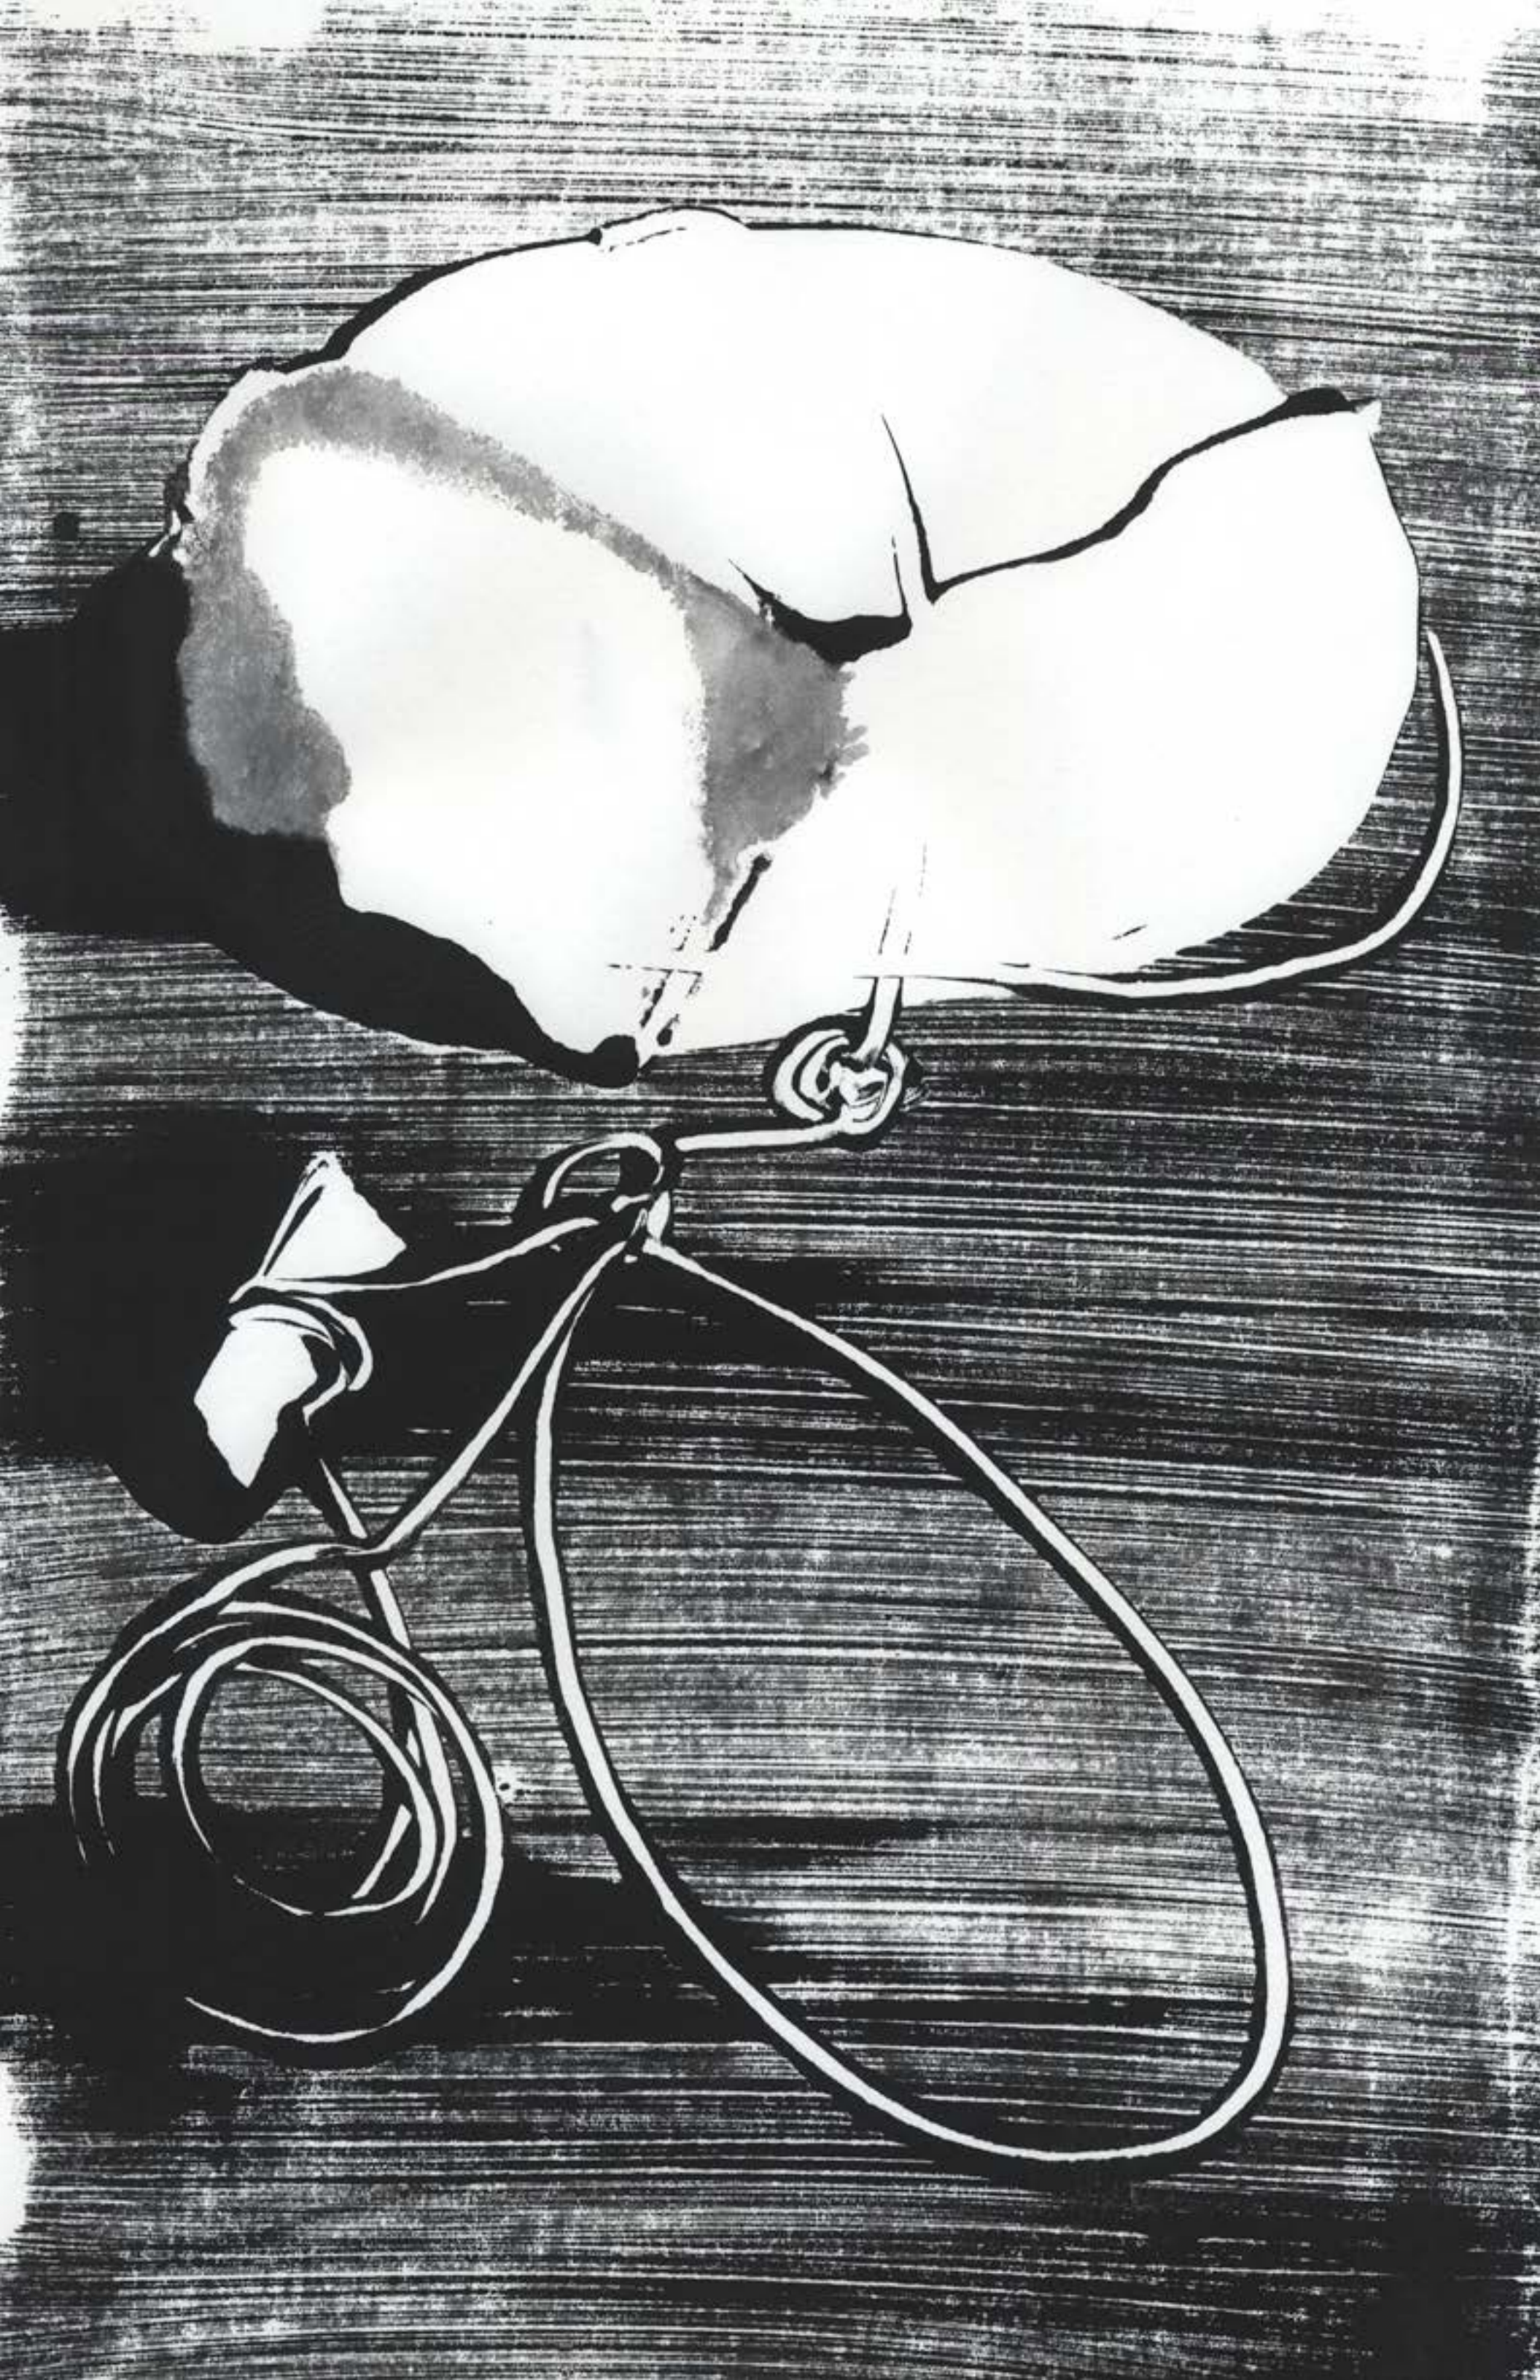

PRETEND THE GOOD BOYS
WERE HIDING IN THE BUSHES

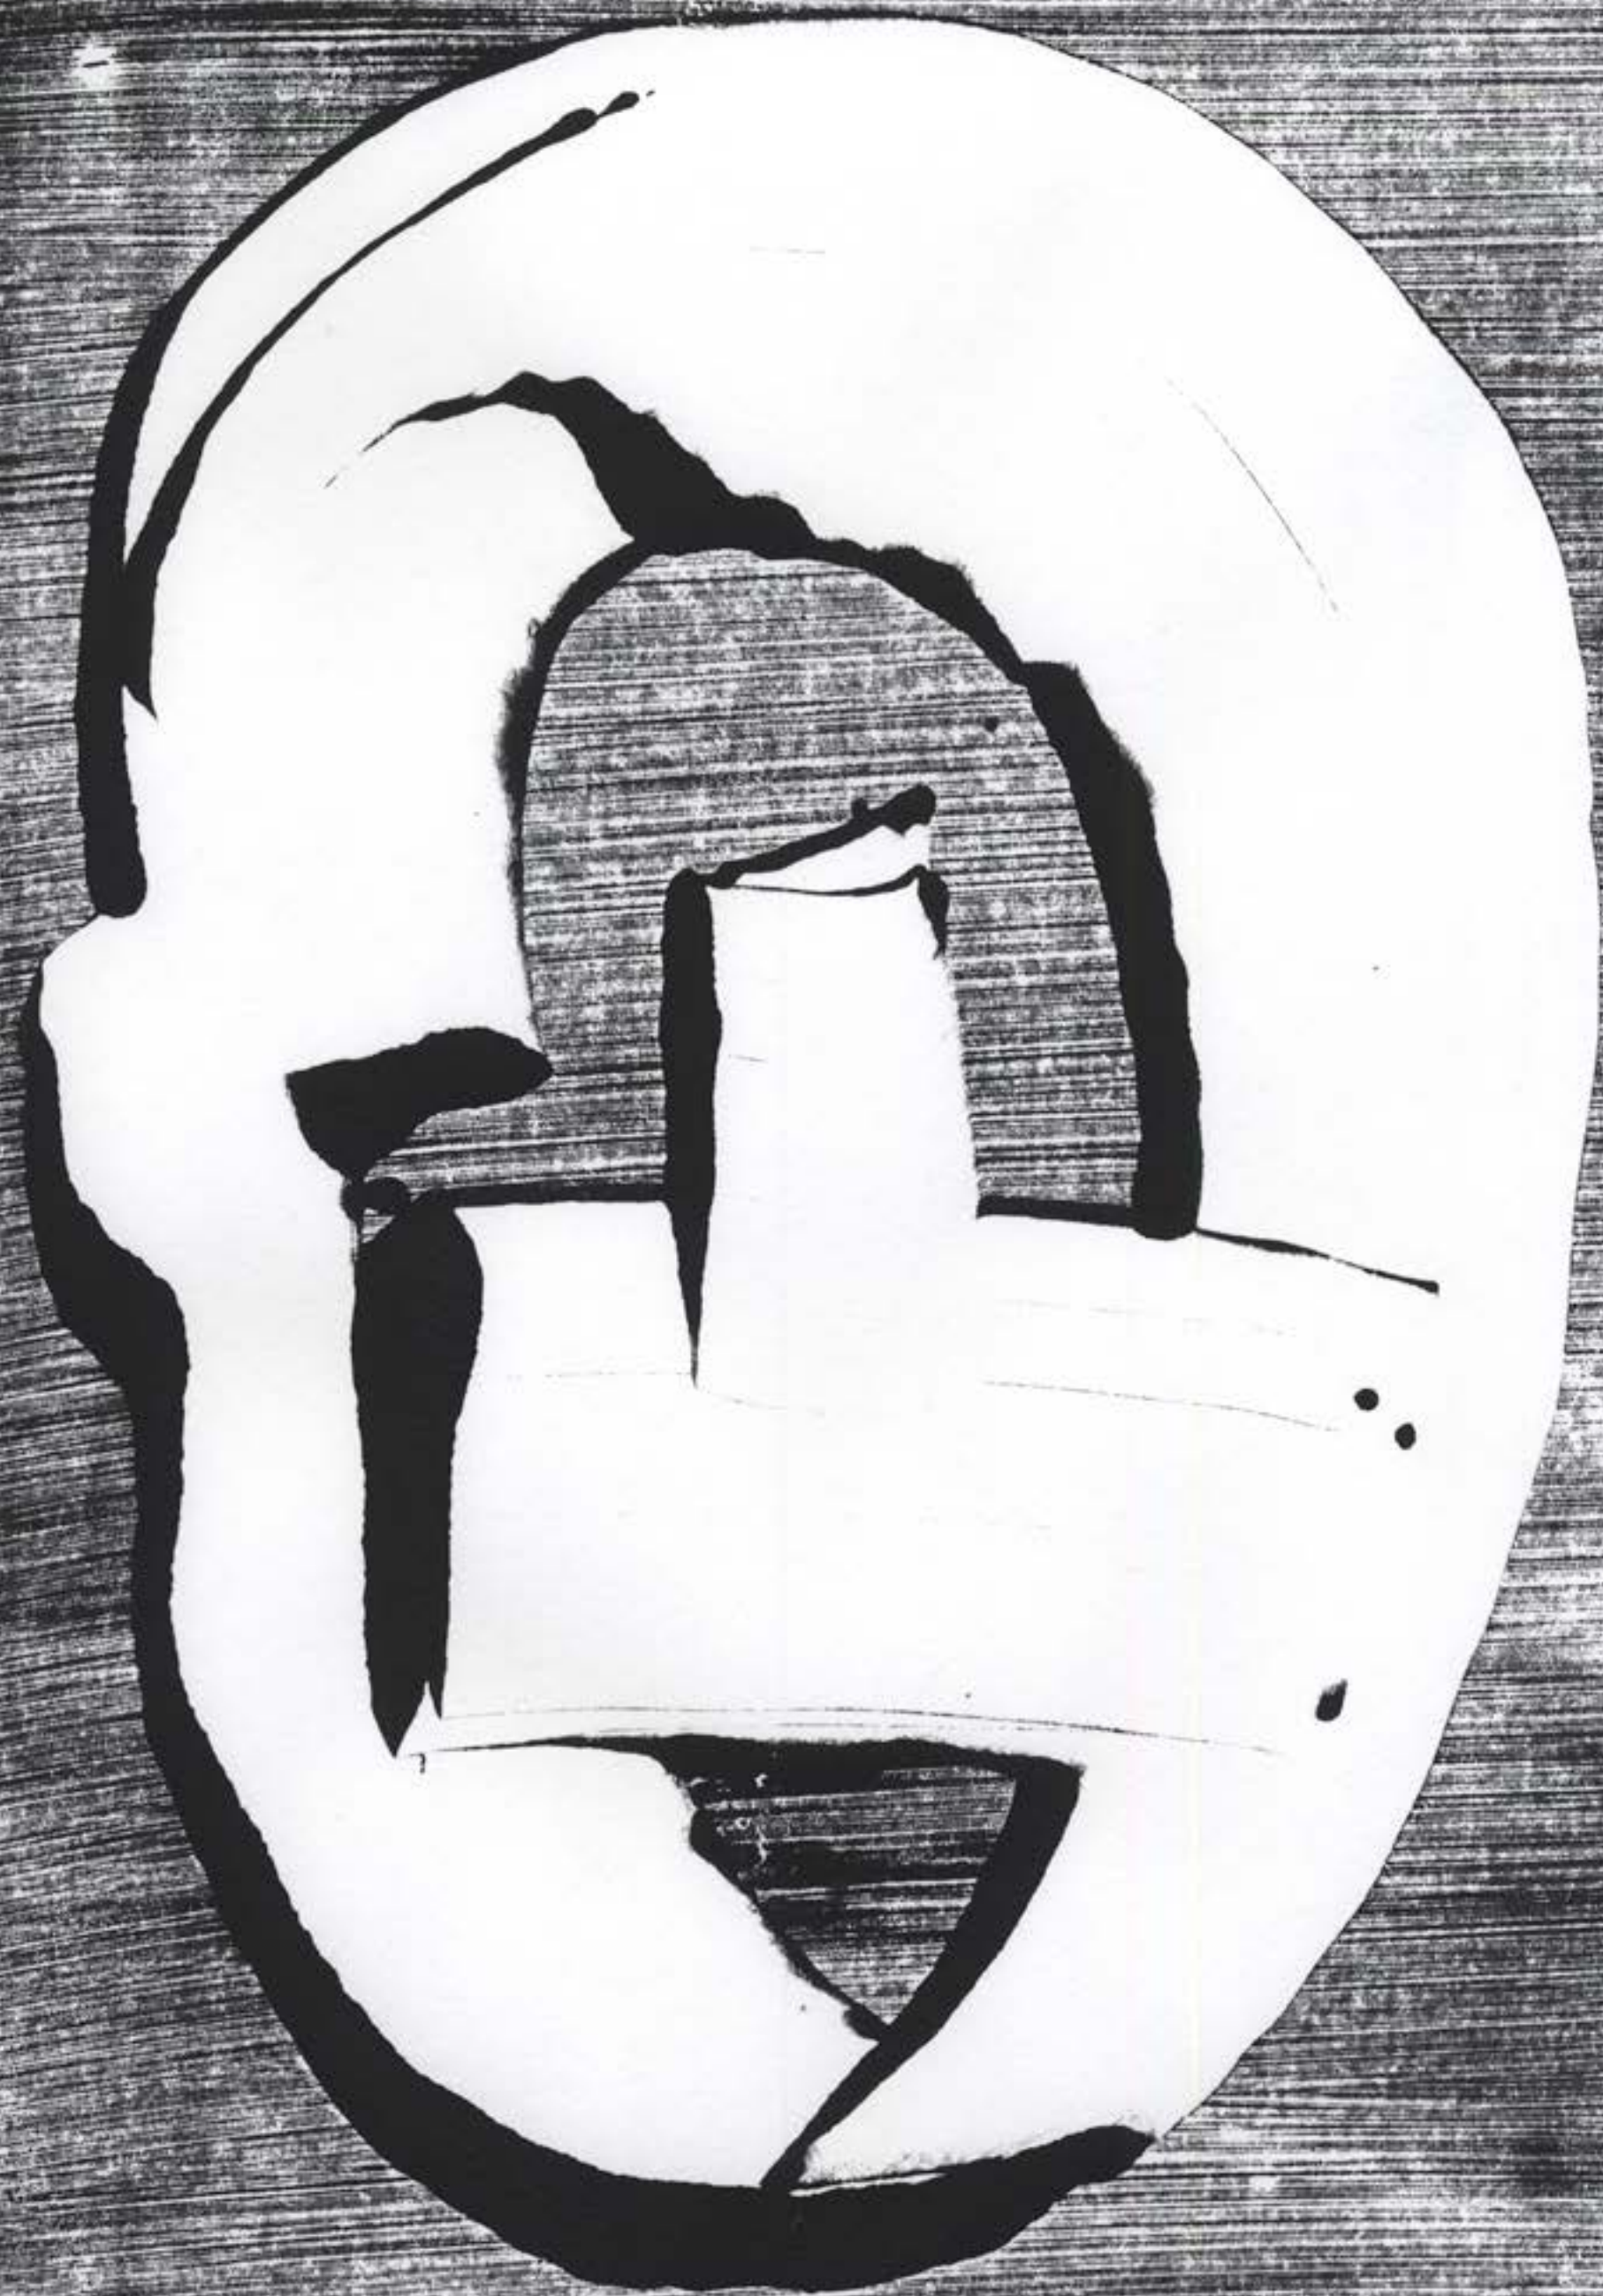

THINK OF THEM
AS LITTLE HUNTERS

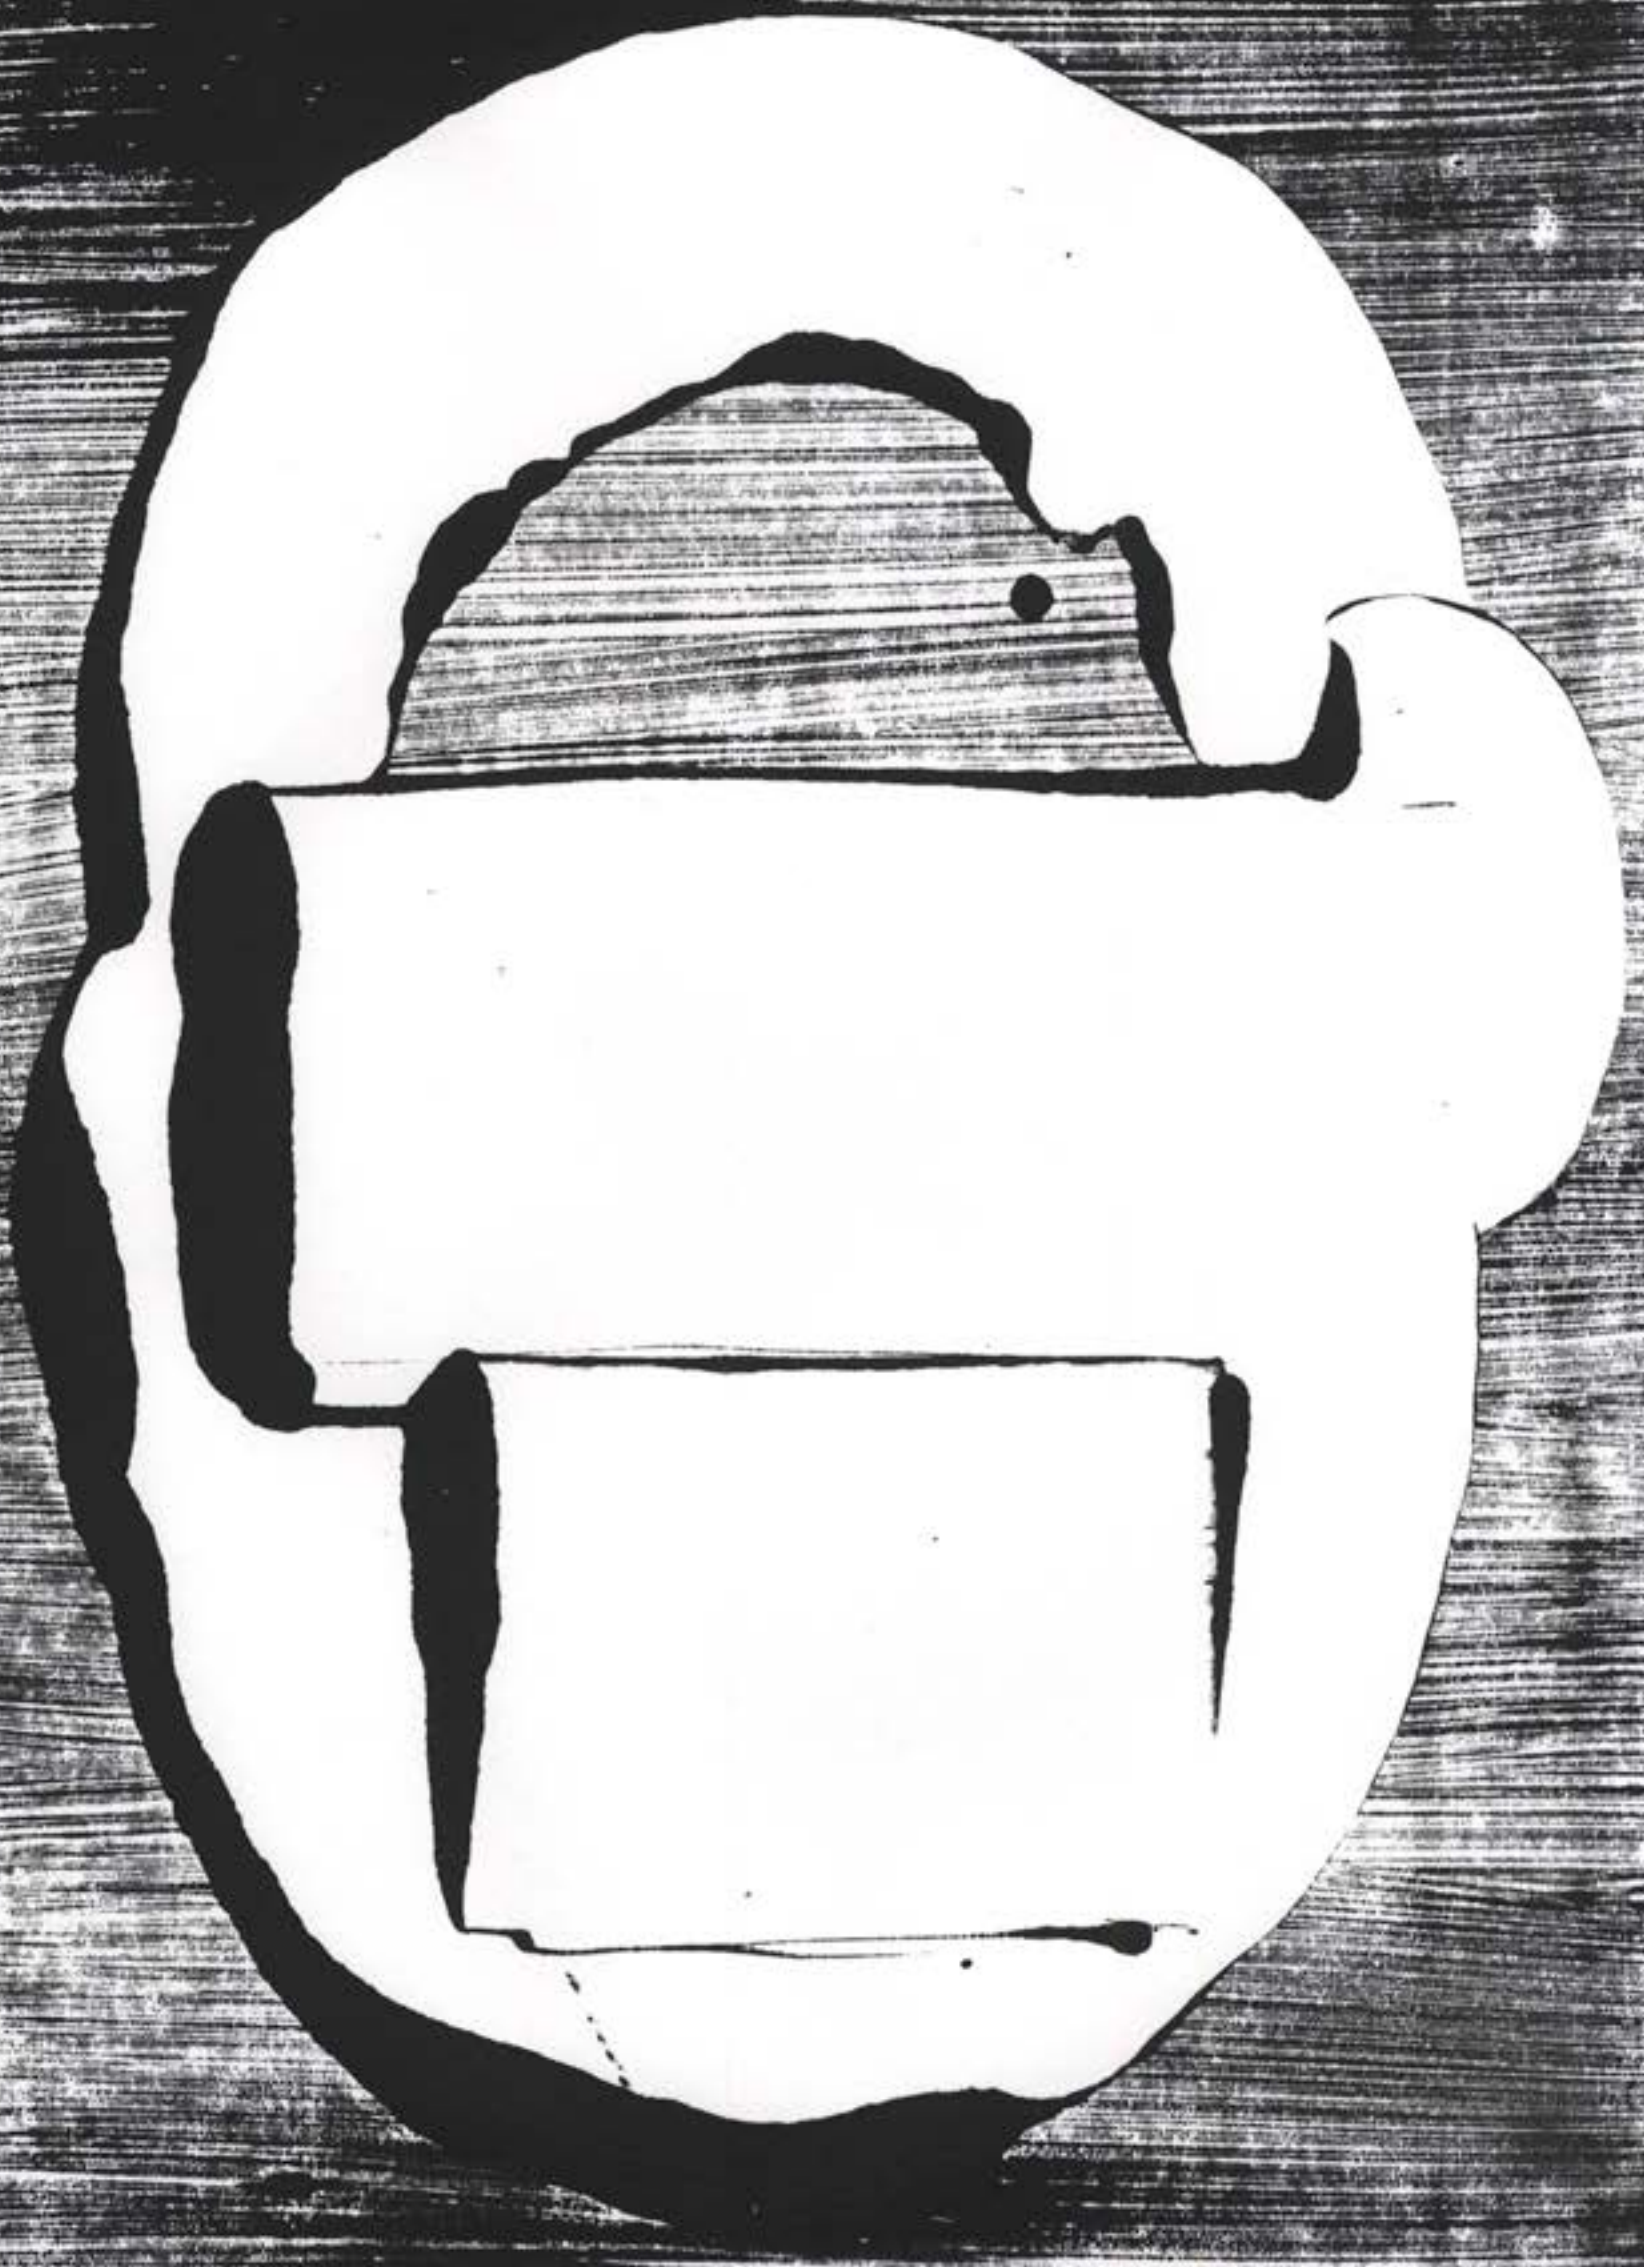

I SPY SOMETHING BLACK

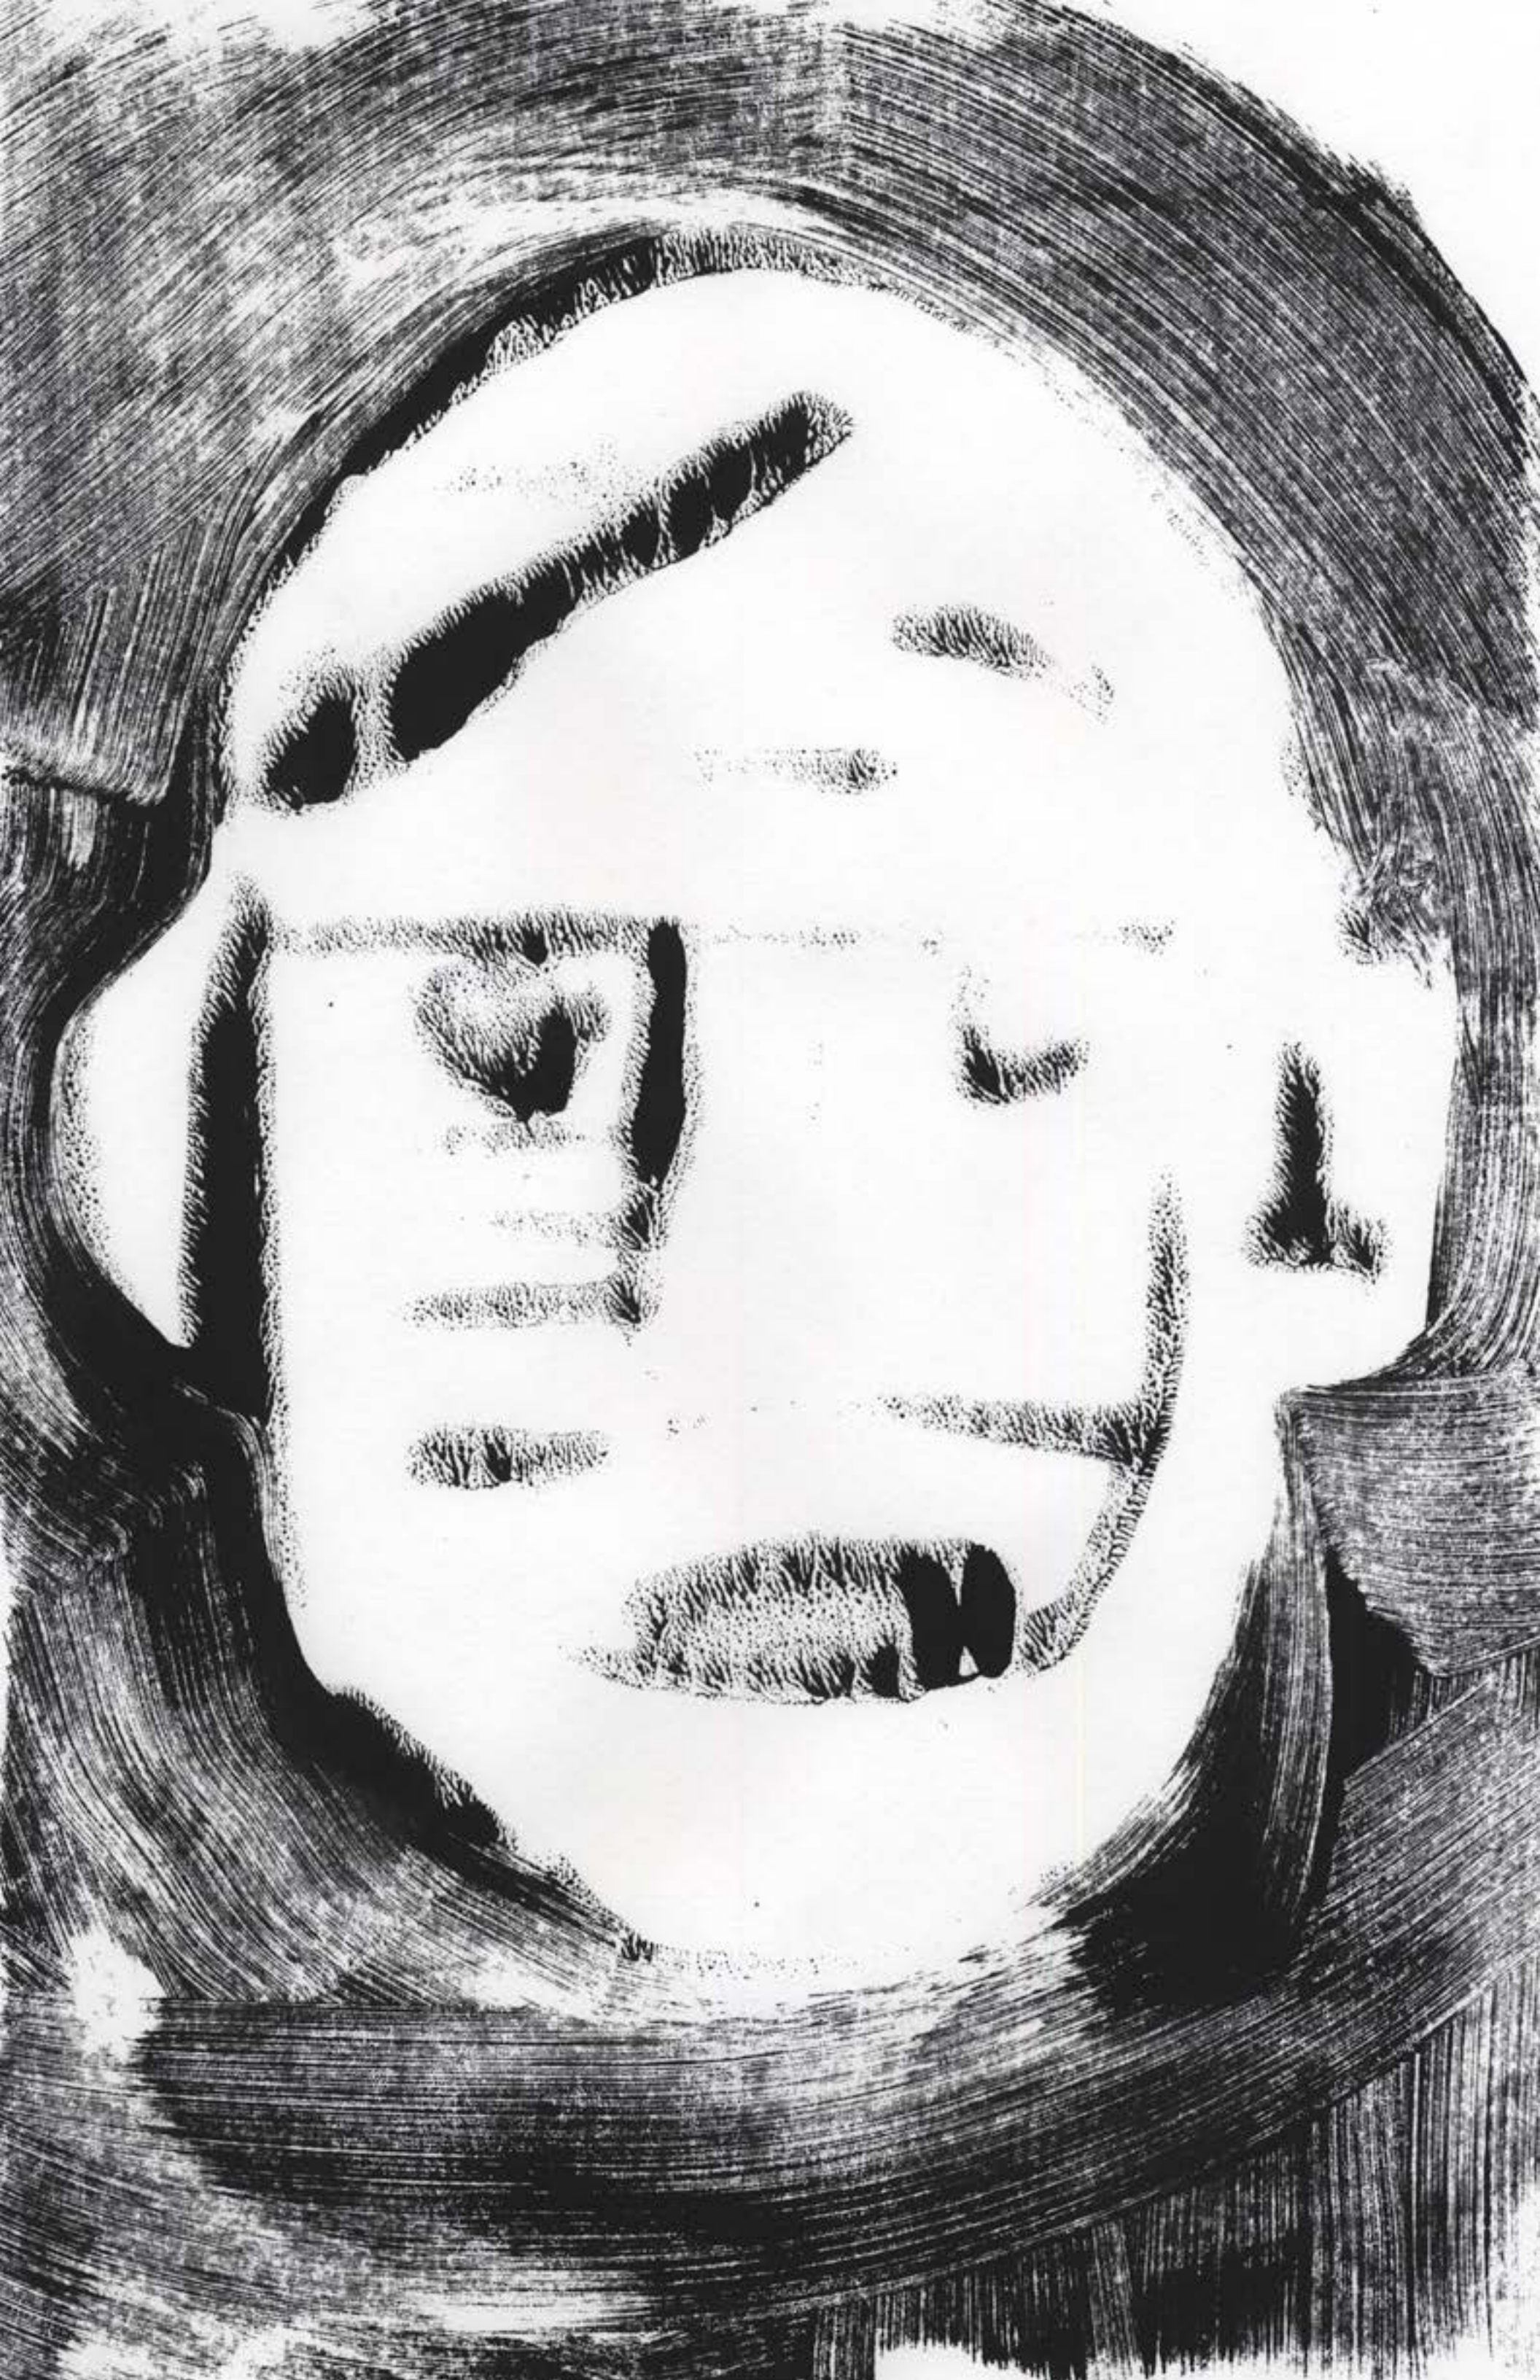

YOU'LL NEVER FIND IT

PRETEND THIS IS HOW THEY CAPTURED THE FIRST POLAR BEAR

THIS IS THEIR DROWNING SNARE

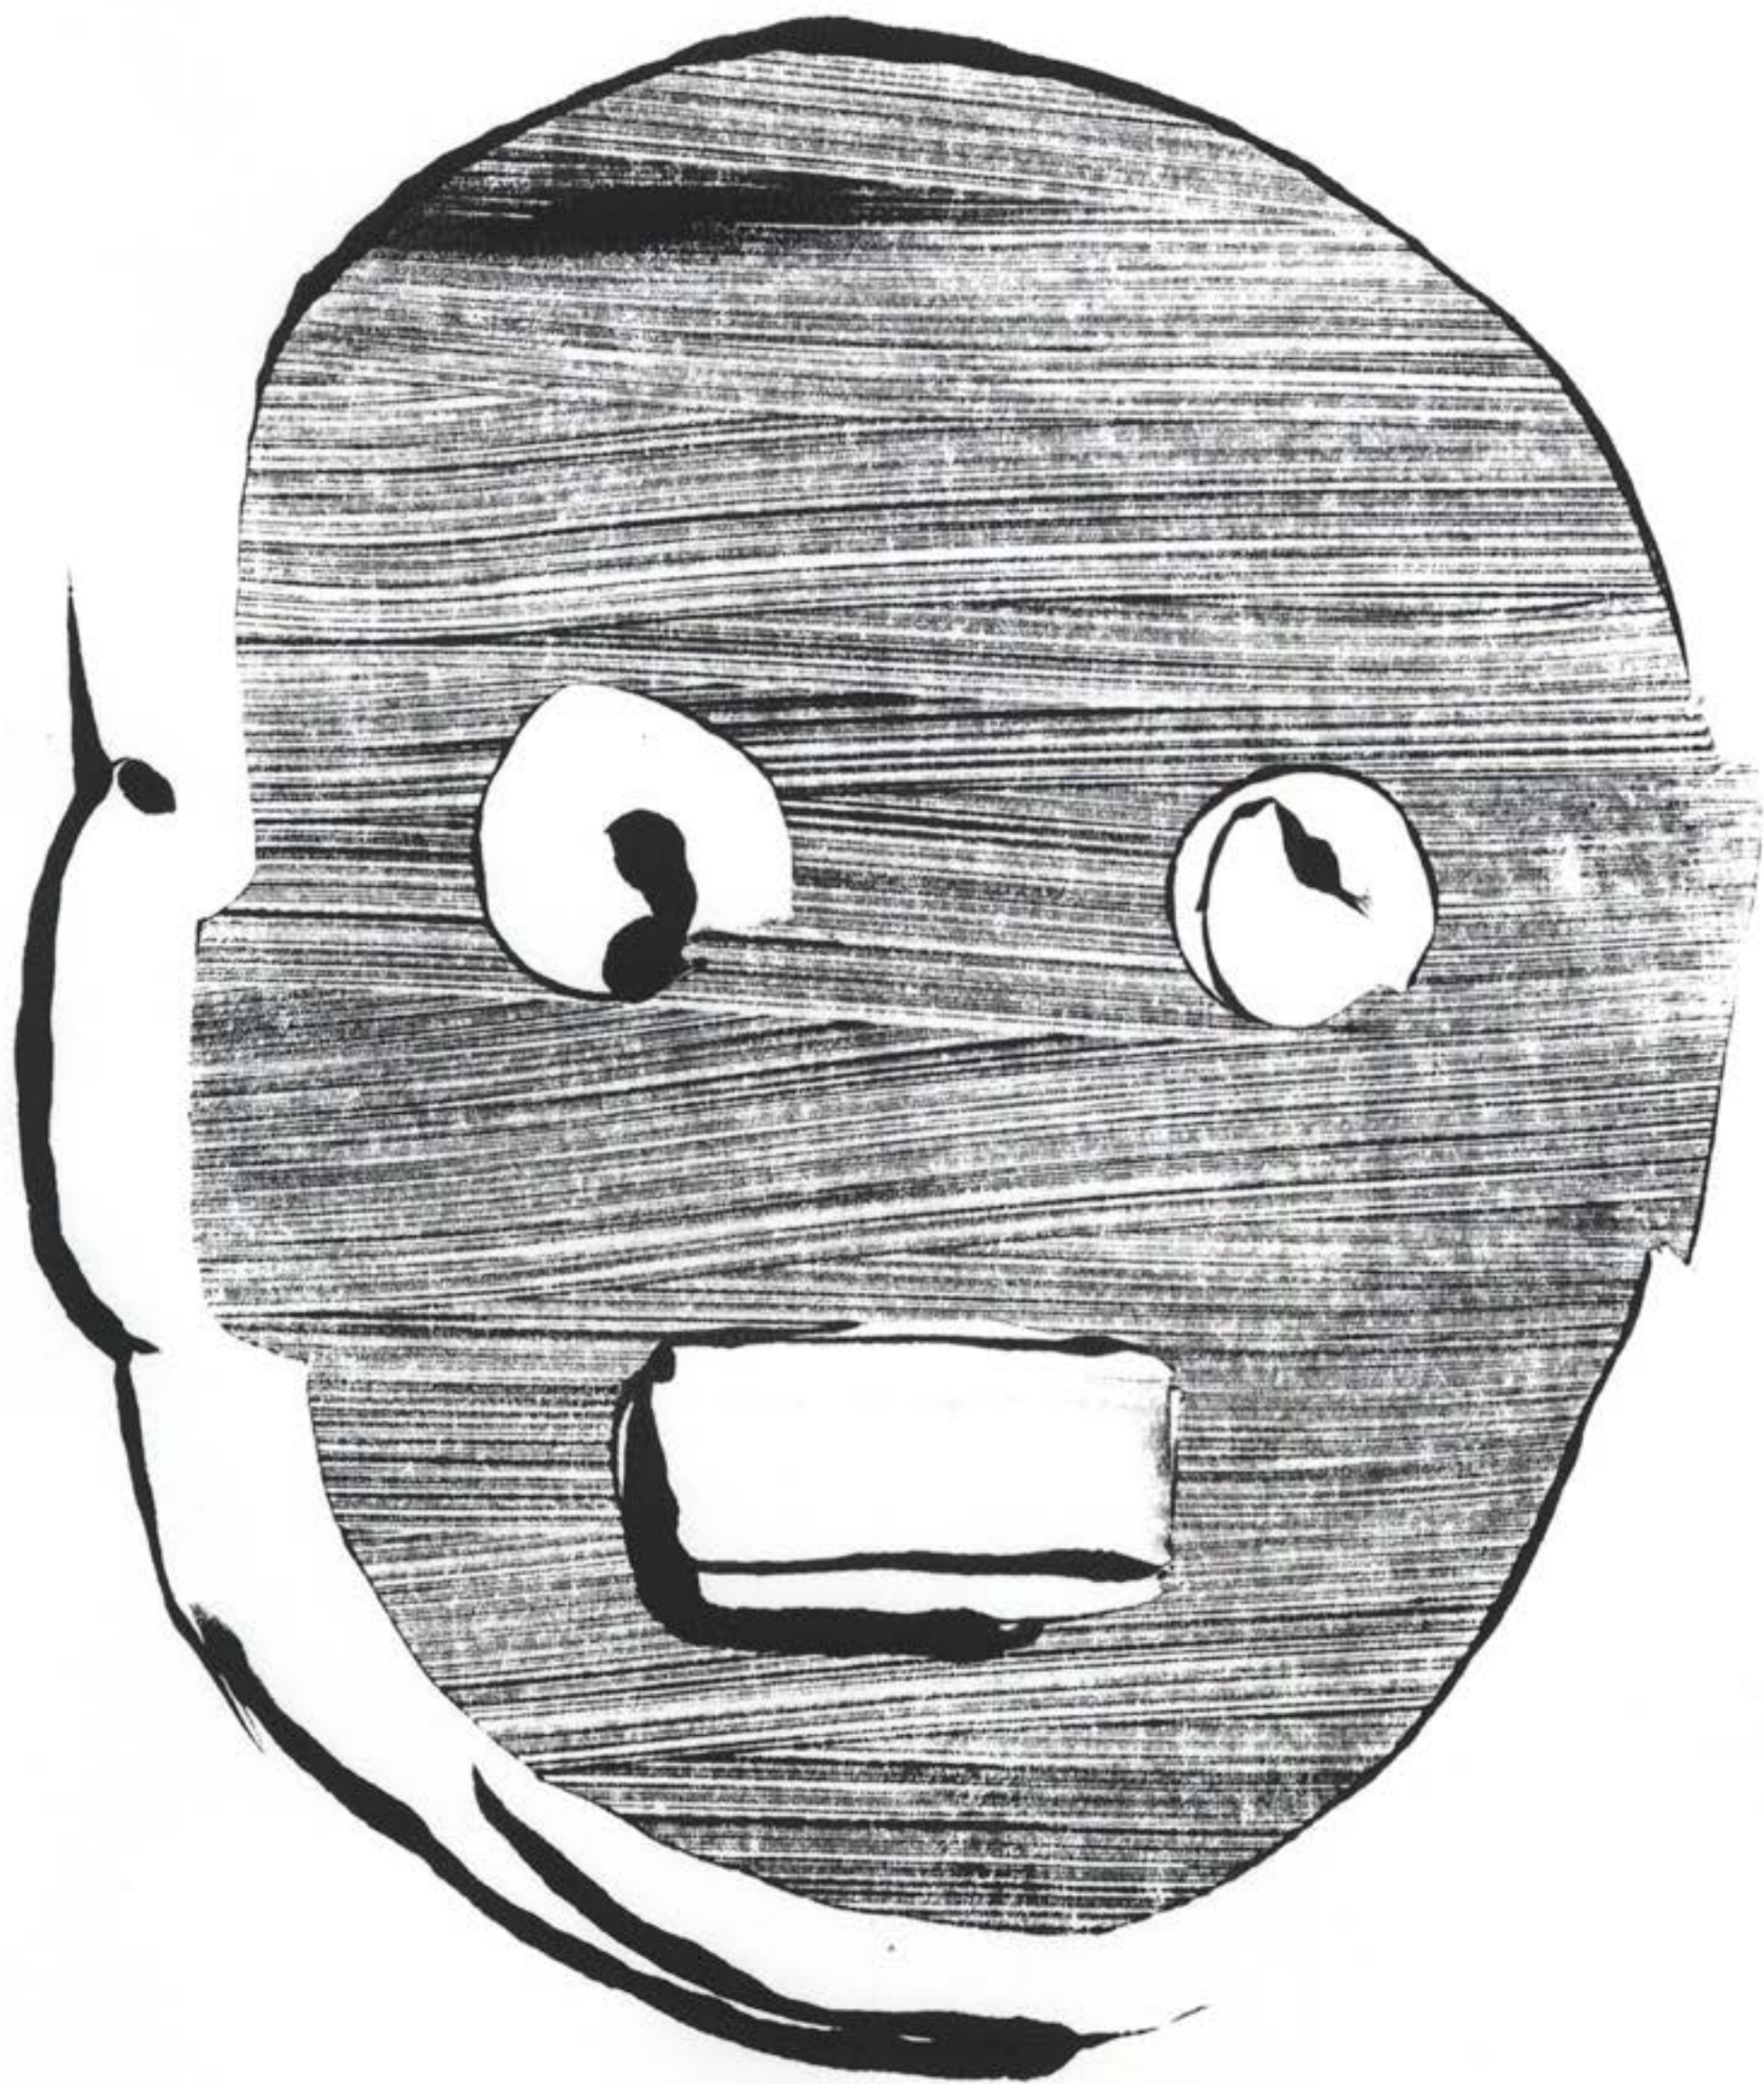

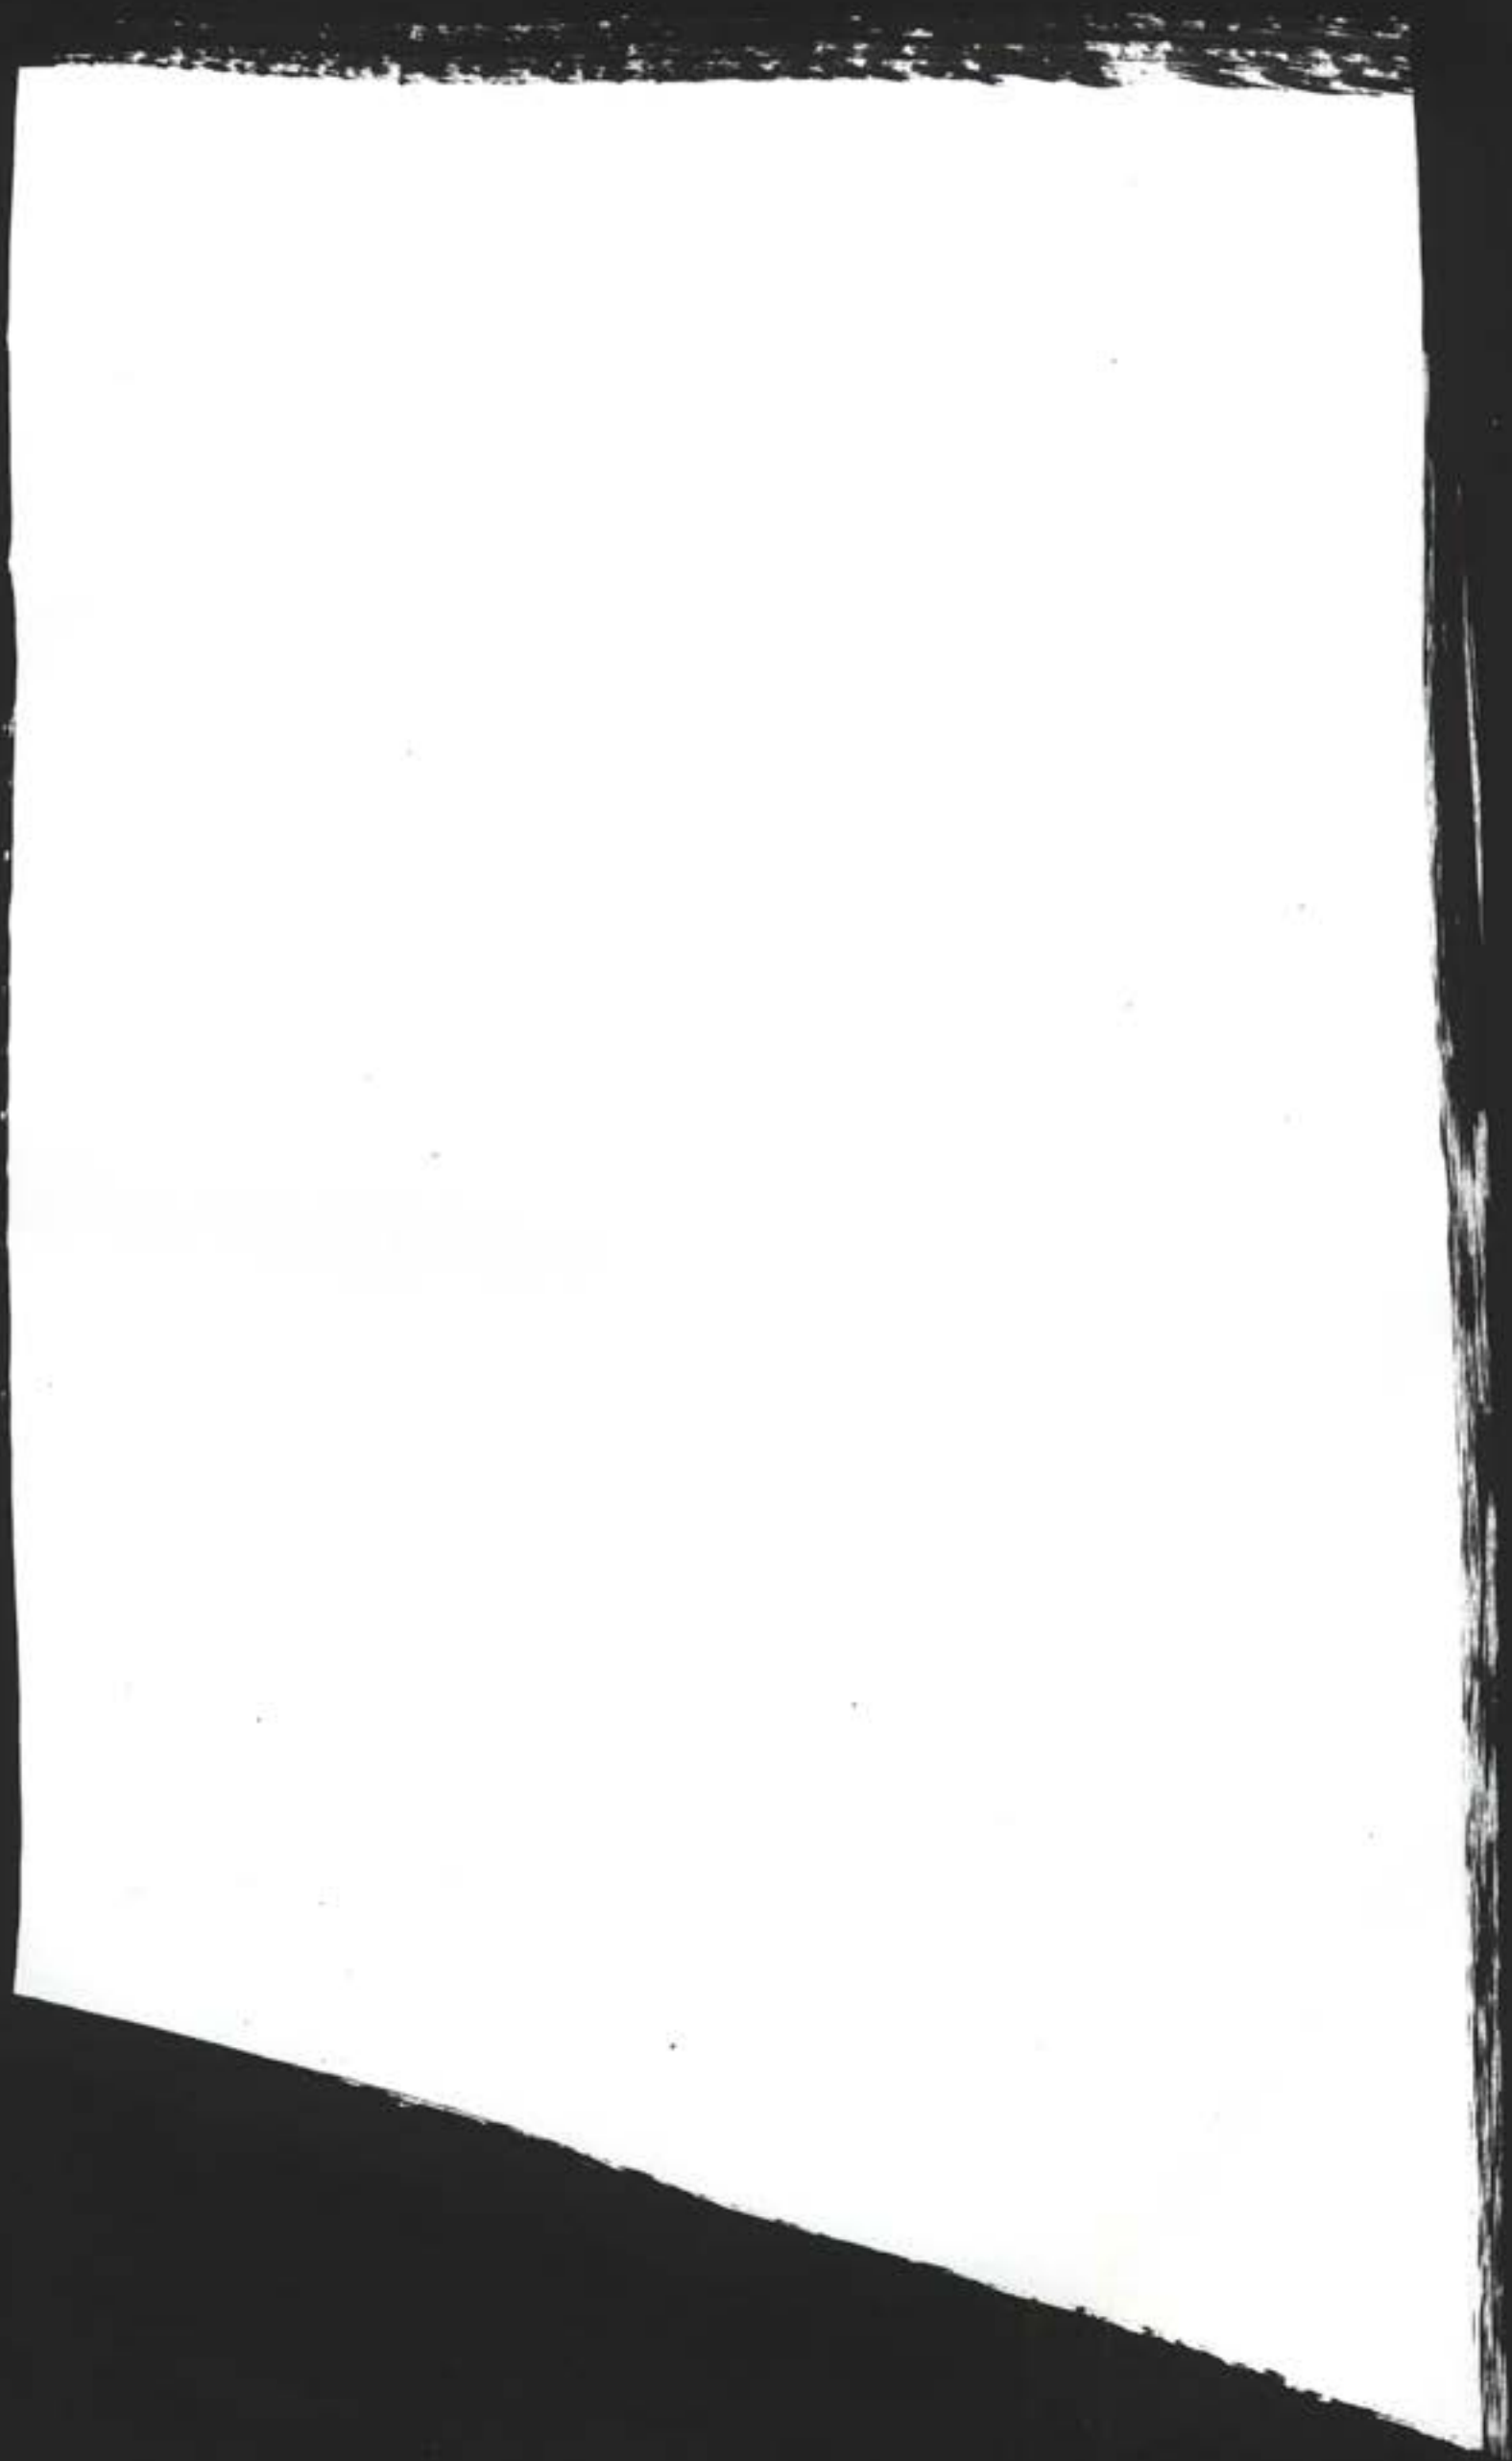

WARNING: NEVER HANDLE
A SNARE LINE WITH YOUR BARE HANDS

AFTER THE TRIGGER IS SET

PRETEND THIS TRAP MAKES

THE MOST SENSE OF ALL TRAPS

THE ROCK AND ANIMAL ARE LOCATED UNDER WATER

WAIT FOR YOUR DINNER

TRAPS

The first trap for sport was laid
When crows tricked a beast into quicksand
And laughed across the desert
As it sunk at sunset.

This trap has repeated endlessly
Requiring the deployment of traps
On those who those wish
To watch things perish from afar.

It's gets exhausting, it's so easy to forget
Whether you are hiding from the trap
Or the trap is predicated on you hiding.

—Neil Fauerso

Designed by Zachary Vernon.

Published by Sawhorse Press
at Texas State University in San Marcos, Texas.

