

The New York Times

Museum and Gallery Listings for June 14-20

Published: June 13, 2013

Karen Heagle: 'Battle Armor' (through June 22) Karen Heagle takes emblems of Medievalism and disarms them with color. In her pieced-together paintings, helmeted suits of mail and motorcycles, those modern battle steeds look like rainbow-colored images in stained-glass windows and or on gold-covered rinpa screens, overseen in this show by portraits of two all-conquering cinematic archangels, Charlotte Rampling and Isabella Rossellini.

Churner and Churner, 205 10th Avenue, Chelsea, (212) 675-2750, churnerandchurner.com.

(Holland Cotter)