Stephanie Kim was born in Austin, Texas in 1988.

She was destined to be a globetrotter from an early age. She has lived in a various parts of the world: Texas, Pennsylvania, Washington, Seoul, Korea, and Paris, France. In 2009, Kim had a traumatic car accident that changed her life around. The accident caused severe fractures throughout her body, as well as a cerebral hemorrhage resulting in partial amnesia and poor verbal linguistic ability. Luckily, the recovery of her brain and bones proved faster than expected. Kim gratefully returned to Maryland Institute College of Art to finish her BFA degree and continues to pursue her life as a painter. She has participated in numerous residencies such as the Chautauqua Institution and the New York Studio School. Currently living and working in Baltimore, Kim expects to graduate in Spring 2014. She plans to move to New York City to pursue her painting.
