

Artist Statement

I make paintings that feature imagined, synthesized images of girls and women that focus on themes of time and transformation. My sources include daily life, vernacular photography and art history. By painting until a specific presence emerges - not a particular likeness - I craft images that are animated and imperfect rather than ideal.