Invisible Attraction opens SEP 4

Hello Friends!

I'd like to invite you to a show I have curated at a venue whose mission is not altogether different than the one Christopher, Zoe, and I envisioned over a decade ago when we started our lecture series project. Community building, creating a space for dialogue, providing a regular place and time to come together and explore something larger than ourselves...well, you might be thinking the same thing as me.

Lucas Thorpe, former series speaker and current director of arts programming at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, has made it possible for me to put together Invisible Attraction. With over forty works by twenty five artists whose practice centers on abstraction, this exhibition makes a case for how artists attempt to communicate seemingly inexpressible ideas through physical form and ultimately visualize the invisible.

Artists in the exhibition: Nils Folke Anderson, Inna Babaeva, James Bills, Jimbo Blachly, Rick Briggs, Vince Contarino, Linda Ganjian, Sue Havens, Elana Herzog, Erick Johnson, Todd Knopke, Elisa Lendvay, Abraham McNally, Ryan Sarah Murphy, Keiko Narahashi, Erin O'Brien, Jim Osman, Gary Petersen, Taney Roniger, Christopher Saunders, Karen Schifano, Marjorie Van Cura, Sarah Walker, Rachael Wren, Daniel Zeller.

Rick Briggs, "Ascension (for Jackie Saccoccio)", 2022, alkyd house paint, spray paint, stir sticks, oil stick on canvas, 30 x 24 inches
